Sept. 1st Deadline Appears Practical On Dike & Pumps

Big Engines And Pumps On Site At Twenty-Mile Bend

Gahagan Construction Company has moved the large rotary dredge which was brought down the West Palm Beach Canal recently back to the north end of L-7 and put it to work piling rock on the dike.

The machine has been pumping muck from the borrow pit, but it was found that the August 1st deadline for the completion of the dike might be jeopardized, another dredge was secured to remove the muck from the pit and the large dredge put to work on piling up the dike. This step makes the August first schedule more likely to be reached.

Also noteworthy progress is being made on the installation of pumps at Twenty-Mile Bend, as part of the dike pumps are already installed, with an "impeller" on the ground and more following. Wednesday the first of the 1940 horsepower engines was unloaded at the site.

Three of the 350,000 gallon pumps are supposed to turn over on September 1st with the other three to follow.

Lamar Johnson, Engineer for the Central and South Florida Canal, said it is possible under an imaginable condition to have water dumped into the Hillsboro Canal from the northern conservation area, to flow towards the Lake. Therefore, we have secured permission to dig a temporary dam in the Hillsboro, in such a case, to prevent this.

The boys seem to be on their toes in anticipation of necessity for flood protection.

The recent deal with land owners, county and U.S. Army work on the Belles Canal, as well as the possible preliminary work on dikes L-2 and L-3, seem to fill the most urgent gap in flood protection to the Glades temporarily.

These particular items will afford some actual relief to our farmers in high water.

Embellished Embonpoint Seems Lions' Idea Of Pulchritude

TO FLORIDATE OR NOT TO FLORIDATE—IT'S UP TO YOU SAYS CITY

Our City Fathers—at least three of them—say to the citizens of Belle Glade if you want your water fluoridated then say so in an election to be designated by them sometime during May.

So, the voters of this community will most likely be bombarded with arguments from the fluoridators and the non-fluoridators between now and May.

The City Fathers also reduced the performance bond of plumbers from $5,000 to $2,000.

Passed a resolution permitting prisoners to be used on private property "when it is public work or the City is performing a governmental function."

Appointed Commissioners Carlin and Ingram along with the City Manager to work with the Chamber on the disbursement of funds allocated for publicity.

Granted A. L. Wallis a dismissal of the suit and judgment in the amount of $12,178 with the accompanying statement by Wallis that he wanted to pay the money when able.

Considered other routine matters and adjourned at ten o'clock.

PAR-TEE LINE

The Belle Glade Ladies Golf Team won by 4 strokes, 20 to 16, the match vs. West Palm Beach on Monday. The girls all bundled up in odd slacks, sweaters, jumpers and skirts were a rather comical sight. The wind was blowing strong and in the wrong direction making tough playing on some holes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lumpkin and four children, Beverly Joyce 10, Nina Faye 13, Donald (front) 16 and Joyce Wayne 17, have quit the cotton country of Pecos, Texas for the stack of the Glades.

County-Wide Election Of Commissioners May Be A Forced Fact In PB County

Supreme Court To Rule On
Circuit Judge's Decision
In Northwest Florida

Relief to the taxpayers in this county is assured if the Supreme Court rules favorably on an appeal of Judge L. L. Pabinski's decision on a Pensacola case which declares county commissioners must be nominated countywide, since primary is tantamount to election in Florida.

The decision affects only the First Judicial Circuit, which is the extreme northwest portion of Florida, unless the Supreme Court rules favorably. In this case Palm Beach County will have to do what forty-two counties in the state now do—elect commissioners countywide.

It's possible under the system now in vogue in this County for any two commissioners to run the entire county by deciding among themselves which of the other two they will commit to themselves thru a three-way allocation of work.

In a county-wide election of commissioners the gentlemen from one district must answer to the voters in all other areas for the bridges he does and doesn't build, and the roads built, or the private driveways constructed, the trees cut down or the roads built, thru and to private property.

The Courthouse Crowd would then answer to the voters direct, and the whole county would most likely receive an equitable consideration in allocating bond money.

If you're interested it might be well to listen for the Supreme Court's decision in the Northwest Florida case.

We're also electing two members of the House and candidates for any might be asked their opinion on this question.

Cold Snap Holds
Off Maturity Of
Some Early Corn

Although the corn season is not yet upon us some hardy souls have corn being picked today, and this picking has been delayed for several days on account of the cold snap. Real harvest of the early spring corn will most likely begin around the 1st of March and continue as long as our fellow citizens will take it all at any time near a reasonable price.

In a few scattered places the cold snap burnt some leaves of corn and did some considerable burning of lettuce top leaves.

Radishes are not too good merchandise during the past few days; celery is moving in quite a volume with fair prices; cabbage are not too useful as a commodity for the farmer; acorn and its allied leafy group have moved fairly well during the past week.

Dr. Vannoy Bush, president of Carnegie Institute in Washington, and a man who calls atoms by their first names, predicts that in the future machines will do all of man's run-of-the-mill thinking. As a lot of us don't do any other kind of thinking, this is going to reduce heads to the status of animated hat racks. This development will leave plenty of folks as free as uncollected advice. We'll either have to start doing some more advanced thinking, or else spend our time staring into space while the machines try to handle our normal problems without blowing a gasket. With an electric thinker around the house we'll have to worry only about who is paying the electricity bill. Of course, it isn't time to start relaxing yet. They're still working on the machine. State wildlife officials in Georgia closed the alligator hunting season, because hunters were killing more deer than alligators. Ever see an alligator with antlers? Doesn't sound accidental to us. Accurate prescription service isn't the result of an accident, but of careful measurement of the purest ingredients. BENEFIT CARD PARTY HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE
 The Country Club was the setting last Saturday afternoon for the annual card party held under the auspices of the St. Philip's Altar Society, for the benefit of the church. A delicious turkey salad luncheon preceded the playing of cards which featured fifteen tables of bridge and seven tables of cards. The door prize, two copper and bottom boilers donated by Mrs. Vernon Dexter was won by Mrs. George A. Von of Cleveland while an exquisite white chenille bedspread given by Mrs. Thomas P. Baker was awarded to Mrs. H. T. Vaughn, Sr., of Cleveland. A hammered aluminum tray donated by Mrs. Mary Foy and Miss Sanna Rodriguez was won by Mrs. Elizabeth Hoyer in a special game contest. A prize was given to the high scorer at each table. The prizes were donated by members of the Altar Society and the following merchants: Glades Drug Store, McCard's Jewelry Store, Averill's Photo Shop, Mittels and Box, Belle Glade Bakery, Belle Glade Beauty Salon, Papp Beauty Salon, Gold's Department Store, Halsey and Griffiths Store, and the Pioneer Store. The Ladies of the St. Philip's Altar Society wish to thank the general public for its splendid cooperation in making the luncheon-bridge party such a success. Without the support of individuals not connected with the church such a venture could not have been contemplated. The committee in charge of the affair included M. R. Robert Muller, chairman; Mrs. August Kirchman, co-chairman; Mrs. Peter LeChance, Mrs. Thomas P. Baker, Mrs. Lloyd Bann, Mrs. R. E. Hotard, Mrs. Joe Burns, Mrs. Guy Wilson, Mrs. Joe Murphy, Mrs. J. N. ## FFA Boys Grow And Harvest Crops

On thirty-five acres of land several miles west and north of Chosen the Future Farmers of America grow and harvest their crops. The cabbage was planted to mature in two crops. The majority of cabbage will be cut around March 1. Very little of the first crop was cut due to the weather.

The FFA boys purchased all seed, spray, etc. together as a chapter cooperative to give boys experience. The land was plowed and disked by some of the older boys and is split up according to their Agriculture class I, II, III on a 3-1 ratio.

Two boys, Buck Jones and Don Crosby have three acres in well peppers. Each boy takes turn spraying and dusting and each boy is responsible for his own project. The school boys are leased from the state with most of the equipment needed to carry on program loaned by Walter Starnes, Paul Kirkman, John Hooker, George Goforth, F. L. Anderson, Kirkman, C. ## OUTDOOR FLORIDA

By Herb Mader

The cool February weather Florida has been having reminds me somehow of my father's first cousin Louie Eckardt, who one day left Toronto for Alaska just on the Arctic Ocean, where he lived it.

He then returned to Toronto, went to California... where the climate killed him quickly. What I am getting at, of course, is that this cool weather is simply wonderful, but we in Florida are not equipped to handle it.

appreciate it. In the first place, Florida, home, I think, should be built of all-steel. Failing that, all windows. So constructed that surplus sunshine could be kept out in the summer-time... but in winter the sunlight would provide most of all the needed heat, plus unlimited light and heat. We will know about solar water heaters. To me nothing is so gloomy in the whole world as an "ordinary" house on a cool but sunny winter's day in Florida. When you step inside you step from heaven into such a gloom as to make you feel like a miser.

able successfully to write about or describe. Yet it need not be that! Why not invite the (whole) beautiful sunny Florida outdoors in when we want it which is practically all of the time? First I am going to say that I, quite frankly, believe we should tear down and rebuild fully 95 percent of all our houses—re-fitting them to take advantage of our golden sunlight. This for one thing would provide so many jobs that talk of "recession" within Florida at least would indeed be completely futile and 100 percent out of order. Of course, the poor Yanks "up North" need new houses, too, even more than we do, but let's start with ourselves first. There is scarcely a "modern" or properly constructed house or building within the state—let's have some real, scientific, honest-to-goodness progress for the first time and for a change and let's take architecture first!

This paragraph above is based on first hand experience while walking from the wonderful Florida outdoors into many, many houses and buildings in all parts of the state on cool-but-sunny Florida winter days. I've noticed the same thing for at least 35 years—and have noticed it while I had it in words. I just hope these suggestions will help to bring about a little progress. It's wonderful how it sometimes takes mankind centuries or better to make any I even read about the man who "made progress walk backwards." This man, I think, was the fellow who designed the houses. Even so-called modern and up-to-date houses of '34!

One of the mysteries of life to a school-age youngster will always be why he has to go to bed when he isn't sleepy and when he is.

A dog's normal body temperature is 101 degrees or more.

LOCAL ACTIVITIES TO BE FILMED FOR TV AND PUBLICITY DISTRIBUTION

Authority of the City Commission to use a part of the public fund provided by the Chamber of Commerce towards a community publicity film brings out the story of this endeavor.

Americana Productions, a group of technicians with years of experience have formed this company for the purpose of making film productions of about ten minutes duration for television and group use. Among this group are writers, cameramen and directors who have had years of service in their respective fields in addition to special educational preparation.

In order to secure community support both financially and in the making of the film a 1954 participation in the total cost is asked of local organizations. The action of the Commission on Wednesday night marked the ninth participant's entrance.

Mr. Don Haidens will bring his group to Belle Glade next week for studies by script writer.

There's much to like to write about the hunting season and hunting in Florida generally. Space may not permit a full coverage of the subject this week, but let's get started. First, there's this "duck season" business, and the reason I put it in quotes is because the "duck season" in Florida is only an imaginary season and of no practical use to the duck hunter.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From

Washington, D.C.

For the second time in less than a year, I have found myself in a small minority in the Senate, voting against a treaty. On July 15, I voted with 14 other senators against the Status of Forces treaty because I did not think it right to send American boys in uniform abroad and deprive them of the same Constitutional right and protections they had at home. The other night I was one of six senators who voted against the Mutual Defense Treaty with Korea. My vote was not a reflection upon the courage and loyalty of Korea or our willingness to be of assistance to them. It rather was directed at our State Department who in these unilateral treaties in Asia do not get for the U.S.A. a 50-50 break and who continue this one-way street of assistance. In Europe, we have a mutual defense pact which binds all the signers to assist any of the others if attacked. In Asia, we have treaties with Japan, Philippines, New Zealand, Australia and Korea; and Pakistan is just. Each of these treaties commits the United States to go to the assistance of these countries. Yet none of the treaties obligates these countries to help us to help the country which may be under attack. There is no obligation, for instance, for South Korea to help us in defending the Philippines. We have long since passed the time when we have enough of either manpower or resources to go all alone, the European continent as well as Asia fighting to assist individual countries which may be attacked. Another major reason for voting against this treaty is that there is no practical limit in time, amount, or conditions under which we would help Korea. We are now involved in starting a precedent which some day we may regret. News Notes Off the Cuff: Final agreement of the judgment bill gives Florida one, instead of the hoped-for two, new federal district judges. . . . Have many fine letters in approval of my vote for joining Canada in the St. Lawrence seaway project which had substantial support in Florida, although the state is remote to our own commerce because many citizens and groups recognized the country's need for a waterway. . . . Engineer Turner Wells already been up to lay groundwork for a later appeal for adequate appropriations for Florida's big project. Have asked Federal Trade Commission to investigate high price of coffee for unfair trade practices. . . . Muchis grates to John Diaz Ayvalde (Mayor) Ybor City for my appointment as 5-star general and my first year's pay (two paces). W. A. "Bill" WALL (Continued from Page One) sincere and honest desire to serve his county and state in providing for a better welfare. Also it has been his long standing firm conviction that we should have more business in government and that more business men should run for public office. Mr. Wall has been a business man all his life, the last 25 years as an executive and employer. The State of Florida is one of our states largest business. The appropriation of millions of dollars each year of the taxpayers money, should have careful and experienced consideration. A Representative, Mr. Wall, with this responsibility, His actions determine the expenditure of each tax dollar. Mr. Wall also feels that a candidate should have a thorough knowledge of the natural resources and needs of his county and state. Having traveled extensively through the state, he believes he is familiar with the problems confronting us to continue our growth and development. If elected, Mr. Wall proposes to work for and support sound and practical health, welfare, agricultural and educational programs, adequate teacher and state employees salaries commensurate with private enterprise, flood control and water conservation, for agriculture and land reclamation, re-apportionment for equitable representation. Constitutional revision, to provide that a state-wide elected official succeed the Governor in event of death, absence to city and county officials in securing state allocated funds, for primary and necessary secondary roads. Stricter enforcement of beverage laws relating to sales to minors and alcoholics, enlargement of our state advertising fund, providing greater national advertising to attract tourists and industry and expansion of hunting and fishing projects, providing additional hunting areas and re-stock annually where necessary. Mr. Wall has been active in many civic and fraternal organizations. He is a past president of the West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club, past chairman of the city recreation commission, past chairman of the city auditor committee, past chairman and director of the Community Chest. In recent years he has been most active in the Elks as a past Exalted Ruler of the West Palm Beach Lodge, Past District Deputy Past President of the Florida State Elks Association. Presently he is serving as a Grand Lodge Officer and as chairman of the Harry C. Crippled Childrens Trust fund, an Elks operated agency. He is a native of Oklahoma, but has lived in Florida practically all his life, the last 25 years in Palm Beach County. Due to family death and adversity Mr. Wall left school to work at an early age. When 25 years old, he was one of the youngest branch managers, for one of the nations largest firms. Now semi-retired, he is the owner of a chain of retail stores and other interests. He is a member of Harmonia Lodge, F. & A.M., U.C.T., and the First Methodist Church.

Too Late To Classify

Did you ever take time out to watch a nest of ants, hundreds of them, busy about the mysterious business that occupies the life of ants? If you have, you probably looked on the operation as a magnificent example of "organized confusion."

Watch them a few minutes and you will become as dizzy as a doped doodle bug. The crazy critters run this way and that, crawl over each other and appear to be going in every direction at once. They never walk to the nearest exit, they always run.

Take a stick and stir up the hill and the confusion is amplified a hundredfold. You wonder if one single ant in the crowd knows what he is doing or why. None of it seems to make any sense.

With all due respect to the ants, I have found another operation that makes them look like rank amateurs. I've just come from the grounds of the Florida State Fair where hundreds of folks are running around like crazy and, compared to the average ant hill, these humans are crazier.

Men, women and children are swarming over the fair grounds running hither and yon, climbing over each other and carrying on like crazy. Carpenters with nails in their teeth and hammers in their hands get in the way of scenic artists; telephone linemen and radio engineers stumble over each other; truck drivers swear at pedestrians; carmen run out, sightseers, and General Manager Huskisson sits in his private den and hopes for the best.

At the Electrical Exposition building hundreds of guys are busy trying to sort out all of the various exhibits and get them properly placed. Tampa Electric

Health TOPICS

Presented by "Doc" Doctor of Medicine, Health Service of the Florida State Board of Health, Local Medical Society.

BAKING POWDER In the care of baby's tender skin, dusting powder has become as commonplace as milk soap and warm water. With reasonable caution, it is perfectly safe to use.

In composition, baby powders do not differ greatly from those intended for adults. One obvious difference is that they are usually only lightly scented or not scented at all. They should be highly absorbent, soft to touch and entirely free from gritty particles.

One ingredient found in some of these powders has been questioned. It is an anti-bacterial substance. The skin normally is inhabited by a number of bacteria but the normal healthy child has sufficient defense to prevent infection by these organisms.

No one as yet proved that anti-bacterial powders effectively improve the general health and condition of the child. These substances prevent the possibility of sensitization resulting in a skin condition. If a skin condition does show up, it is wise to consult the physician. Only under his supervision should any preparation be applied to the affected area.

Baby powders are intended to make the child more comfortable. At times from or are aggravated by excess moisture. One aid to avoiding drying rash is thorough washing and drying of the skin after each diaper change, followed by powders to absorb any excess moisture. This is undoubtedly one of the best uses for this product. When skin is itchy, simply dry, oil instead of powder should be used.

The careful mother will not allow her baby to play with the powder container. There is the possibility of a rash if the powder is rubbed into the baby's face and then he sneezes or coughs. Some cases of pneumonia have been reported as a result.
